

STEM Prep

Preparing High School Students for College-Level STEM Courses

Supported by generous funding from the National Science Foundation, STEM Prep is an academic enrichment program for under-represented minority (URM) high school 11th and 12th graders that are interested in pursuing bachelor's degrees in science, technology, engineering or mathematics disciplines. This 8-week, after-school program is held on CPCC's Central campus. Participants are enrolled in non-credit courses that provide them with project-based experiences in mathematics and their choice of science, technology or engineering. Upon completion, participants of STEM Prep will:

- Gain increased familiarity with current practices in STEM fields
- Illustrate preparedness for a successful transition into STEM studies at the college level
- Participate in a coordinated exploration of careers in their targeted STEM focus area
